

Worried about your abnormal Pap Test?

Research Participants Wanted

Who: Pre-menopausal women 18-50 years old, with at least one abnormal Pap test (“mild,” “ASCUS,” “low grade,” or “LSIL”) in the last 12 months.

What: 1) Screening Study for Women with HPV-16 (Human Papillomavirus) Infection
2) Clinical trial for HPV-16 vaccine

Why: To test women with abnormal Pap results for HPV-16 infection using a virus test. As many as 2600 women will be screened for infection and eligibility for the HPV vaccine trial. Eligible women will be compensated up to $80 for the screening study, and as much as $225 additionally for participating in a study comparing vaccine to an inactive substance (placebo).

Where: UCLA School of Nursing
700 Tiverton Ave.
Factor Building
Los Angeles, CA 90095-6919

Contact: Dorothy Wiley PhD
Assistant Professor, School of Nursing
Ed Wiesmeier MD
Director, Arthur Ashe Student Health
Ashley Christiani MD
Dale Perry, MSN FNP
Phone: 310-825-0540
HPVSTUDY@UCLA.EDU

Date of Draft: December 16, 2004
UCLA HSPC # 02-12-044-03
Expiration Date: December 15, 2005

Tell a friend!!!