

Each year, there are more than 13,000 cases of cervical cancer in the United States. Yet we have all the tools we need to prevent cervical cancer today.

Regular screening with Pap and HPV tests can help find problems early and prevent cancer from developing.

Early detection is key to preventing cancer. Don't fall behind! Make sure you're screened on schedule.

Learn more at
www.nccc-online.org

To:

---

---

---

---

